What’s in this edition?

Editorial of Sorts .................................................. 1
Places to Go, Things To Do ............................. 2-3
Newsletter Notes ................................................ 4-5
Call for Knowledge Base Moderators .......... 5
AAIR Website ......................................................... 5
Training and Development .............................. 5
Positions Vacant .................................................. 5
For the Poddies, Voddies and Bloggies ....... 6
Light Relief ............................................................. 6
A Distraction .......................................................... 6
AAIR Committee listing ................................. 6

EDITORIAL OF SORTS

I can’t help but mention and reflect upon the fact that the start of 2011 has brought floods to huge parts of Australia, including many campuses and schools. The damage was extensive here in Queensland and elsewhere. Before and after photos which give a great visual are available here. Around the same time there were major floods in Brazil and Sri Lanka. My thoughts and sympathies go out to those who have been affected. Whilst the damage has been quite devastating, it’s been wonderful to experience how community really comes together at these times. The volunteer effort has been, and continues to be incredible in Brisbane.

However, as I write people are slowly emerging to find out the destruction caused by Cyclone Yasi last night. With last year the warmest on record and increased frequency of more extreme weather events predicted by scientists, what actions might we as individuals make and/or to support, encourage or educate others to change or take action?

And so to my first AAIR e-Newsletter as editor… Sincere thanks to Dave for filling in with the last issue and to Rob for his words of wisdom.

This edition is a bit of a mix with mostly old, something new, a little ‘borrowed’ and the font still blue. I’m feeling my way so far in this new role so expect some changes as I ease into things.

Some releases from late last year that you may have missed in the Christmas rush:
- Graduate Careers Australia released Gradstats, a summation of Employment and Salary Outcomes of Recent Higher Education Graduates
- The final compacts template from DEEWR
- DEEWR Higher Education 2020 Newsletter for December 2010 is available here.

Feel free to pass the newsletter onto your colleagues. Anyone is welcome to subscribe by dropping me an email. Subscribers are encouraged to become a member of AAIR.

Feedback, comments, suggestions and contributions to the Newsletter are, as always, welcomed.

Wendy Marchment
Editor
editor@aair.org.au
PLACES TO GO – THINGS TO DO

Plenty coming up and here’s just a sample over the next couple of months plus still time to put in proposals for some future events, including HEIR if you are quick, or to book that trip to Spain!

Some overlaps and a few more events are at http://aair.org.au/pages/events

Education 2011 to 2021- Global challenges and perspectives of blended and distance learning
15-18 February 2011
Dockside, Sydney

Policy Officers Conference
23-24 February 2011
National Convention Centre, Canberra
The post conference workshop is entitled ‘Developing implementable policy’. The title put a smile on my face. I daren’t say any more… Whilst the conference seems aimed at public servants, the program has plenty of relevance for those outside of government.

2nd Annual Green Universities Conference
24-25 February 2011
Sydney Harbour Marriott
Still a relatively new area in the Australian tertiary sector. Benchmarking is mentioned in the program as a key focus so relevant for AAIRies to at least keep an eye on this area. Further details here

Universities Australia Higher Education Conference
2-4 March 2011
Hotel Realm, Canberra
The program promises to “break away from traditional program formats to create greater opportunities for dialogue, analysis and engagement between the sector, other stakeholders, and commentators.”
You may have to be quick to secure a seat at the National Press Club Luncheon for the address by Universities Australia Chair Professor Peter Coaldrake AO. Just remember it’s televised if you manage to get a seat.

4th Annual Higher Education Congress
7-9 March 2011
Sydney Convention & Exhibition Centre
The theme is ‘Towards Transformation: responsive strategies to improve tertiary education in Australia’.

Customer Analytics Forum
8-9 March 2011
WatersEdge, Sydney
‘Increasing Data Reliability and Accessibility to Remain Competitive in Evolving Markets’. Plenty in this program to tempt those in the BI domain

Defining & Achieving Interconnected Tertiary Education
Stronger pathways across Higher Education & VET for increased participation
30-31 March 2011
Mercure Melbourne
This topic has been on the agenda for many years but with much more emphasis in recent times following the endorsement of targets in the Bradley Review. The promo says you will take away:
- Up-to-date information on how TEQSA and the Australian Qualifications Framework Council are working to strengthen pathways between VET and Higher Education
- How different stakeholders define an interconnected tertiary education system and plan to make the most of the current good will around collaboration
- Ways to overcome division in the tertiary education system in order to support diverse student pathways, increase regional participation and develop sustainable partnerships
- Methods for working with industry and community; aligning pathways with outcomes

Higher Education Data Warehousing Forum (HEDW) 2011 Conference
April 3-5, 2011
Seattle, Washington.
The annual get-together on the other side of the ocean for BI types. Sunday training on the program includes Stephen Few on ‘Dashboard Design for At-a-Glance Monitoring’ and the Keynote: Ken Collier, Agile Consultant and Author on Agile DW/BI.
Conference of the International Network for Quality Assurance Agencies in Higher Education
4-7 April, 2011
Madrid, Spain
The conference theme is "Quality Assurance: Foundation for the Future" with four subthemes:
 Globalizing forces and national/regional goals in higher education: emerging issues
 Professionalization of quality assurance
 Effective QA processes for diversity, development and sustainability
 Independence of QA vis a vis different stakeholders
http://www.inqaahe.org/madrid-2011

AUA Jubilee Conference and Exhibition
18-20 April, 2011
University of Nottingham, UK
This will be the 40th annual conference of The Association of University Administrators (AUA) with the theme “Looking back, looking forward and looking beyond’.
http://www.aua.ac.uk/events/conference/index.htm

The 9th Annual Higher Education Summit
27-29 April 2011
Sofitel Brisbane
The third of three conferences at the start of the year focused on Higher Education. Professor Denise Bradley AC, Interim Chair, Tertiary Education Quality and Standards Agency appears in all three. Includes the usual substantial line-up of VCs doing presentations. If you haven’t already received the brochure find out the details here.

Association for Institutional Research Annual Forum
May 21-25, 2011
Sheraton Centre Toronto Hotel, Ontario
AIR’s crossing the border into Canada for their forum this year with the theme ‘Passport to new ideas and better decisions’. Be prepared to be amongst at least 1500+ other delegates if you go. It’s HUGE with more than 450 presentations. You can’t say you’re starved for choice.
http://forum.airweb.org/2011/

HEIR Conference
16-17 June 2011
Kingston upon Thames, London
The 4th UK and Ireland Higher Education Institutional Research (HEIR) Conference. If you’re quick, you can still get in by the proposal deadline of 7 February. Details here.
The theme is Scanning the Horizons: Institutional research in a borderless world.
http://www.heir2011.org.uk/

Australian Quality Forum (AUQF)
29 June to 1 July 2011
Melbourne, Australia
The forum theme is ‘Demonstrating Quality’. Deadline for submissions is 1 April 2011

Society for College and University Planning (SCUP) Annual Forum
July 23–27, 2011
National Harbor, MD (USA)
(Just outside of Washington DC and Alexandria, VA)
The forum theme is ‘Integrated Solutions – how and Now’.
http://www.scup.org/page/annualconf/46

TEMC 2011
14-17 August 2011
Gold Coast Convention and Exhibition Centre, Gold Coast, Queensland
The conference theme is Riding the Waves.
Deadline for abstract submissions is 5 April
http://temc.org.au/

EAIR Forum
28-31 August 2011
Warsaw, Poland
EAIR’s 33rd forum has the theme ‘Bridging cultures, promoting diversity: higher education in search of an equilibrium’
Posters deadline is 1 May 2011.
http://www.eair.nl/forum/warsaw/
If you need some tips on doing an effective poster, try here.

AAIR Data warehouse/Load Management/DEEWR SIG Forum
Will be in early August in Canberra
For further information contact Fiona Sutherland at ANU, fiona.sutherland@anu.edu.au
NEWSLETTER NOTES

1. ALTC - Collateral Damage?
Various Federal Government funding cuts have been announced along with a levy to fund the massive flood recovery bill. Unfortunately, cuts have included the abolition of the Australian Learning and Teaching Council (ALTC), and the Capital Development Pool.

2. ABS Data and Floods
Be aware that the floods affect the ABS stats as per this media release.

3. Research Rankings
With the ERA 2010 National report released recently, rankings tables were quickly compiled. The Australian's is here with plenty of commentary articles, if you can’t manage the 314 pages. The report provides the outcomes of the ERA 2010 evaluations, which applies to research undertaken between 1 January 2003 and 31 December 2008.

4. When is a Difference Really a Difference?
With thanks to Gavin Moodie:
Barely a year goes by, it seems, before the Commonwealth proposes yet another survey of student satisfaction to rank universities by.
Commonwealth officials seem determined to allocate substantial funds on very small institutional differences in student satisfaction. A similar survey in the UK has been examined by Jacqueline H S Cheng and Herbert W Marsh. Marsh, you may recall, was a member of the University of Western Sydney from 1980 until he accepted a chair in educational studies at Oxford in 2006. Cheng and Marsh recently published a paper in the Oxford Review of Education volume 36, issue 6 (pages 693 – 712) titled ‘National Student Survey: are differences between universities and courses reliable and meaningful?’
Their abstract describes their study well –
The National Student Survey (NSS) of course experience satisfaction is sent to final year students of all higher education institutions in England, Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales (N = 171,290 and 157,342 students in 2005 and 2006) and results are made publicly available. The present investigation assesses the reliability and appropriate use of the NSS from a multilevel perspective. Although NSS responses provide a limited basis for discriminating amongst universities and courses within universities, the ratings of universities are highly reliable and stable over time due to the large number of students (2005 and 2006 rankings correlated r = .86). The unresolved question is whether very small (only 2-3% of the variance explained) but reliable and stable differences between universities provide useful information for benchmarking universities, self-improvement, and informing student choice.

5. Apprenticeships and traineeships: participation, progress and completion
This briefing paper draws together findings from two LSAY (Longitudinal Surveys of Australian Youth) research reports: 'Participation in and progress through New Apprenticeships'; and the 'VET pathways taken by school leavers'. These two reports use data obtained from young people who were in Year 9 at school in 1995 and whose educational and occupational activities were traced each year thereafter. You need to subscribe to view the report here.

6. DEEWR Higher Education Base Funding Review
The consultation paper was released on 17 December 2010 and submissions are due in by 31 March 2011.
http://www.deewr.gov.au/HigherEducation/Policy/Pages/BaseFundingReview.aspx

7. Academic Workforce Planning NZ
With thanks to Kathie Rabel for alerting me to this one:
This report by Business and Economic Research Limited (BERL) entitled ‘Academic Workforce Planning - Towards 2020 was commissioned by Universities New Zealand - Te Pōkai Tara (Universities NZ) with funding support from the Tertiary Education Commission. Having skinned through the summary it seems like the story is very familiar.
http://www.universitiesnz.ac.nz/node/488

With thanks to Rob Sheehan for the following three items:

8. Hong Kong Aspirations
Hong Kong’s University Grants Committee has produced a report to the Government of Hong Kong SAR, entitled Aspirations for the higher education system in Hong Kong. It was released in December 2010. It covers a lot of territory, with a bit of a focus on QA objectives and facilitation of pathways via a coherent credit transfer system. The url is:
9. VET Workforce in Shape
Before Christmas, the Productivity Commission released the Vocational education and training workforce draft report. Overall, the Commission reckons the VET workforce – in terms of numbers and capability – is in good nick, but notes some areas that need attention – probably pretty smartly. The almost total lack of data on private providers is one thing to get moving on. More flexible IR arrangements is another thing to get moving on. And there’s a need to get cracking on ensuring the Cert IV in Training and Education is delivered well, along with better-targeted professional learning and improved attention to industry currency of VET practitioners. A small agenda. The url is: http://www.pc.gov.au/projects/study/education-workforce/vocational/draft

10. Does work and study work?
NCVER released in January a report entitled Outcomes from combining work and tertiary study. It looks at outcomes for both VET and higher education students and is based on data from the Longitudinal Surveys of Australian Youth. I’ve only had a look at the Exec Summary so don’t have the detail yet, but it’s on my list to work through. It’s a useful study because it actually gives a bit of breadth and depth to the long-running debate about young people who combine study and work have a tougher time succeeding at their studies – a perspective that would seem odd, in any case, for an apprentice or trainee. The url is: http://www.ncver.edu.au/publications/2320.html

TRAINING AND DEVELOPMENT

Visual Business Intelligence Workshop
23-25 Feb 2011
Melbourne
Altis Consulting is hosting courses taught by industry thought leaders including Kimball University, Stephen Few and Ralph Hughes during 2011. First up is the Visual Business Intelligence Workshop. Check them out at http://altis.com.au/education_calendar.php

POSITIONS VACANT

CALL FOR KNOWLEDGE BASE MODERATORS
The AAIR Committee is still looking for Knowledge Base moderators. Contact Liesha Northover if you are interested. Email info@aair.org.au See December e-Newsletter at http://aair.org.au/news for further details

Thanks to Haley Caldwell from VU who has agreed to moderate a group called ‘New AAIRies’. This will provide a forum for those who have just joined AAIR and who may completely new to IR or who have been in IR for a while but unaware of AAIR. More information on that group will be available over the next month or so.
FOR THE PODDIES, VODDIES AND BLOGGIES

1. The Joy of Stats
Yes, you read it right, stats can be ‘fun’. If you haven’t seen a Hans Rosling presentation, this is for you. http://www.economist.com/blogs/dailychart/2010/12/data_visualisation
If this short video whets your appetite, there’s more of Hans available on TED talks, including this one which includes an explanation of why he and others developed the software that he uses for visual presentations http://www.ted.com/talks/lang/eng/hans_rosling_shows_the_best_stats_you_ve_ever_seen.html

2. Academics’ Health
Radio National’s Ockham’s Razor has an historical investigation of the occupational health of academics. Probably not to be digested with lunch. A different view of our learned colleagues as Professor Yasmin Haskell from the University of Western Australia discusses some of the ailments associated with the sedentary scholarly lifestyle. http://www.abc.net.au/rn/ockhamsrazor/stories/2010/3088102.htm

3. Changing Education Paradigms
This animate was adapted from a talk given at the Royal Society for the encouragement of Arts, Manufactures and Commerce (RSA) by Sir Ken Robinson, world-renowned education and creativity expert and recipient of the RSA’s Benjamin Franklin award. Here is someone who’s pushing the status quo in education and how we teach. It resonates with me. http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zDZFcDGpL4U&feature=player_embedded
You can view the video of the full 55 minute speech here

4. What Motivates Us?
An oldie but a goodie. Another RSA Animate, adapted from Dan Pink’s talk at the RSA, illustrates the hidden truths behind what really motivates us at home and in the workplace. You may be surprised by the findings. http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=u6XAPnuFjJc&feature=player_embedded
The full talk on video is here.

LIGHT RELIEF
http://www.jokelibrary.net/education/after_m/stat-dilbert.html

A DISTRACTION
In the interests of a different break from that tedious task whilst improving your brain capacity, try the brain games on http://www.lumosity.com/
Lumosity partners with researchers at Stanford, UCSF, Harvard, and Columbia, among other prestigious universities. Of course, you can only be distracted for a limited time period unless you pay up. In the meantime there’s various options including an assessment of where you could improve your brain capacity.

AND JUST REMEMBER…
63% of all statistics are made up… including this one.
Dilbert

AAIR Committee – 2011

President:
Josie Palermo, Lecturer, School of Psychology, Deakin University

Vice President:
Dave Marr, Special Projects Officer, Statistical Services, ANU

Treasurer:
Jeff Holmes, Manager, Load Forecasting, QUT

Secretary:
Dean Ward, Manager, Strategic Information Services, ECU

General Committee members:
Mark Bazzacco, Director, Planning & Statistics, University of Canberra
Bruce Guthrie – Research Manager, Graduate Careers Australia
Don Johnston – Institutional Research Officer, Southern Cross University
Sally Nimon, Manager, Institutional Analytics, University of South Australia

Deadline for submissions to the March AAIR e-Newsletter is Monday 28 February 2011. Send to editor@aair.org.au

This could be about an article, report, website or book, an event or training opportunity, staff movements, positions vacant, introducing yourself to other AAIRies or anything else that you think may be of interest.

To subscribe or unsubscribe email editor@aair.org.au

AAIR e-Newsletter – February 2011