Canberra Institute of Technology

What is the Canberra Institute of Technology (CIT)?

Canberra Institute of Technology (CIT) is a government institute, and is the ACT and region's leading vocational education and training provider.

CIT offers over 400 courses to local, national and international students to equip them to work effectively in business and industry or go onto further tertiary study.

Qualifications range from certificate to degree level and include a range of flexible learning options. CIT students include school leavers, first-time employees, those seeking a new career direction or additional skills and people with specific training needs.

CIT prides itself on achieving excellence in teaching and learning, providing progressive and accessible education solutions, using the latest technology and most up-to-date in learning capabilities.

CIT enjoys excellent working relationships with many international institutions and is host to international students from over 50 countries.

CIT is also proud to have produced the CIT Reconciliation Action Plan – joining a national initiative to put words into action and make Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples feel welcome and celebrated within the community. Canberra Institute of Technology (CIT) is a Registered Training Organisation under The Australian Quality Training Framework (AQTF).

Where are the CIT campuses?

CIT has six locations, set in beautiful, leafy surrounds, and located on major public transport routes. The campuses are home to world-class libraries, information technology resources and sporting and recreational facilities. There are also plenty of places to enjoy the social side to being a student.

CIT’s campuses are designed to enhance a supportive learning environment. You will find teachers and students working and studying alongside each other. You can also enjoy the benefits of having trade centres on site, whether it is discounted hair and beauty treatments, or reasonably-priced meals prepared by students and apprentices at CIT Reid’s own restaurant and café.

Please see the image below for where each campus is located on the map.
