North Melbourne Institute of Technology

What does North Melbourne Institute do?

Meet your goals for a successful future – with the right education and training.

NMIT (Northern Melbourne Institute of TAFE) has been delivering vocational training since 1912 and today offers a diverse range of innovative, hands-on TAFE (VET) and Higher Education (Degree) programs to equip you with the knowledge and skills to excel in an evolving and challenging marketplace.

NMIT courses are designed and developed with industry participation to give students the best employment outcomes.

But, we don’t expect you to take our word for it. Watch Our People Our Stories which documents on video some of the many stories from students and staff about studying at NMIT.

Based across the northern region of Melbourne, NMIT has six metropolitan campuses, Preston, Collingwood, Epping, Fairfield, Greensborough and Heidelberg, and a rural campus at Ararat. Each campus provides an individual, unique and enriching student experience.

There are also six training centres, Northern Lodge – Eden Park, Northern Lodge - Yan Yean, Yarra Glen Racing Centre, Northern AMEP (Adult Migrant English Program) Centre in Broadmeadows, Growling Frog Vineyard and NMIT Kyneton Park.

Yarra House offers boutique student accommodation in the beautiful surrounds of the Fairfield campus.

In 2010 NMIT opened its Technical Education Centre at Heidelberg – a purpose-built facility for young people wanting to complete their secondary schooling with a practical focus.

Also, in 2010, we opened the Green Skills Centre of Excellence at our Epping Campus, followed in 2012 by a new student centre.

With over 68,000 course enrolments in 2011, NMIT offers over 500 nationally accredited courses, many which are available on either a full-time or part-time basis. It also provides over 400 institute-accredited courses.

NMIT currently offers three-year (and one four year), specialist bachelor degrees within our unique hands on learning environment and optimal industry exposure in:

We’re constantly developing new articulation pathways and degrees to grow the opportunities for our students. In 2012 we introduced the Associate Degree of Tertiary Studies which provides a new entry point into higher education at university or NMIT’s bachelor degree programs. We will post details of any new courses on our website as soon as they are finalised.

NMIT degree courses offer credit transfer and recognition of prior learning to students who have already completed a nationally recognized Diploma, Advanced Diploma or other qualifications.

Direct entry Associate degrees (2 years) embedded in all NMIT degree programs offer great pathway (credit transfer and recognition of prior learning) opportunities to further education.

NMIT has achieved international recognition with over 24,000 offshore enrolments in 2011 and 24 educational partnerships across Asia.

NMIT’s close ties with industry ensure students have the opportunity to be awarded study grants donated by industry sponsors, also extending their own networks for future success.
