TEQSA is Australia's national regulatory and quality assurance agency for the higher education sector. The higher education sector delivers education services to more than one million students each year, is actively engaged in research and innovation, employs more than 100,000 people, and is one of Australia's largest export trade sectors. TEQSA regulates Australian and overseas universities, and other public and private providers including those offering pathways into higher education.

Regulation and Review Officers

As a Regulation and Review Officer, you will be part of a dynamic case management team responsible for all aspects of regulation and for planning and implementing quality assessments. You will assess providers of higher education and their courses, and provide expert evidence-based advice.

We are looking for people with professional experience in higher education or pathways into higher education for international students. Skills and experience in course accreditation, academic management and international education, and/or regulation will be an advantage. Full Job Descriptions are available on our careers page, www.teqsa.gov.au/careers-teqsa.

Applications close 11 November 2012.

Please note that the successful candidate/s will be required to obtain a security assessment at the baseline level, a National Police Record Check and undergo a medical examination.
