Objectives

The International Education Researchers Forum has been initiated to develop a network of currently active and emerging researchers and those managing research in the broad field of international education.

The aims of the Forum are to:

- Encourage interaction between researchers and practitioners from all sectors
- Facilitate discussion on current and future research priorities;
- Contribute towards the development of an Australian industry-based research agenda;
- Disseminate information on current research, funding possibilities, publishing, meetings etc
- Develop links between Australian and international researchers across institutions, sectors and fields of study.

Participants

Involvement is encouraged by all active researchers working in the field. The event is designed to bring together researchers from:

- Academia
- Industry
- Government
- Non-government organisations.

Masters and PhD students and post-doctoral researchers are particularly welcome.
